The Pious Pilgrimage

Elizabeth and Her German Garden

New Edition

The trade is warned against circulating a book entitled "The Pious Pilgrimage" by the author of "Elizabeth and Her German Garden." The material included in this book is duly copyrighted and is our property, and all persons selling the same or handling it in any way will be prosecuted.

"The Pious Pilgrimage" is published only in the new enlarged edition of "Elizabeth and Her German Garden," and can be purchased only in that form.

The H. B. CLAFLIN CO.

BOOK DEPARTMENT.

DURING the Fall Season Booksellers will find here the same liberal treatment and painstaking service that have enabled each year to double the business of the previous one.

Full lines of the Holiday publications are now on exhibition at the usual "Claflin" prices. These include the Fall issues of all the leading Publishers, Gift Books, Board Books, Juveniles, and Calendars. An opportunity is given the careful buyer to contrast all lines and make only such selections as will suit his trade. Where it is not possible for the customer to examine these in person, we gladly forward catalogues and quote prices.

Our increased showroom space (practically doubled July 1st), a largely increased staff, and improved shipping facilities warrant us in believing that we are in the best position to meet the wants of the trade. That our prices are correct from the selling standpoint is evidenced by the large number of new accounts gained this season.

Respectfully,

THE H. B. CLAFLIN CO.,

NOTES IN SEASON.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY have just ready "The Sequel to a Tragedy," a story of the far west, by Henry C. Dibble.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & Co. state that the "Mushroom Book," which we announced as just ready last week, will be delayed until some time in January, owing to the difficulty of reproducing the very beautiful and delicate colored pictures.

HENRY A. DICKERMAN & SON, 55 Franklin St., Boston, have just ready a new edition of Eugene Field's "Tribune Primer," with original illustrations by John C. Frohn; also, "A Yankee Crusoe, or, the golden treasure of the Virgin Islands," by "Allan Eric," which is the pseudonym of C. W. Willis, an active Boston newspaper man and correspondent who has travelled extensively and contributed frequently to newspapers and magazines.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY warn the trade against circulating a book entitled "The Pious Pilgrimage," by the author of "Elizabeth and Her German Garden." The material included in this book is duly copyrighted and is the property of the Macmillan Company, who state that they will prosecute all persons selling or handling it. "The Pious Pilgrimage" is published by the Macmillan Company only in the new enlarged edition of "Elizabeth and Her German Garden," and can be purchased only in that form.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS publish this week two volumes of Eugene Field's prose sketches and verse entitled "Sharps and Flats," already fully described by us. They have also just ready "Military Reminiscences of the Civil War," by General Jacob Dolson Cox, which is full of new data as well as new views of the Civil War. This is considered to be one of the most notable authoritative works that yet remain to be written on the subject. It is issued in two volumes and contains a number of portraits and maps.

FLEMING H. REVELL COMPANY will supply the trade, until further orders, with the authorized edition of Ralph Connor's "Black Rock," printed on good paper and bound in cloth, in quantities of less than 100 copies at 12½ cents; 100 copies at 11 cents; and in lots of 1000 copies at 10 cents. The paper edition has been withdrawn, but the illustrated edition is still in the market. The "Sky Pilot" is not, and will not be issued at less than the price now charged for it. We understand that The Outlook has concluded arrangements with the Revell Company for the serial rights of a new book by Ralph Connor, to be brought out next year.

MCCLURE, PHILLIPS & Co. have just ready the experiences of "An American Engineer in China," by William Barclay Parsons, who presents a view of China and the Chinese from the standpoint of industrial development as it exists at present and along the lines it is likely to follow in the future. The book contains reproductions of a number of interesting photographs. They will publish shortly the Richard Mansfield acting versions of "Henry V.," which was for the first time presented on the stage of the Garden Theatre, New York, October 25. The text will be annotated throughout by Mr. Mansfield and will be embellished with heraldic notes and devices and two photogravure illustrations. They have also nearly ready "The Philippines—the war and the people," a record of personal observations and experiences, by Albert G. Robinson, who spent several months in various parts of the Philippines studying the conditions and manner of life of the inhabitants.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

Sizes are designated as follows: F. (folio: over 30 centimeters high); Q. (4to: under 30 cm.); O. (8vo: 25 cm.); D. (12mo: 20 cm.); S. (16mo: 17½ cm.); T. (24mo: 15 cm.); Tt. (32mo: 12½ cm.); Ft. (48mo: 10 cm.). Sq., obl., mar., designate square, oblong, narrow books of these heights.

Proceeding with his story of "The people of the Netherlands," says the translator, Prof. Blok devotes v. 3 and 4 to an account of the eighty years war. His narrative covers the history of the revolt against Spain, 1568, to the treaty of Munster, 1648. The years 1559-1568, he treats as forming the prologue of the struggle to independence. According to Prof. Blok's plan this material was to be included in one volume of the English version, in which the greater weight is given to social and economic conditions than to the political affairs of the people, but the subject demanded closer study and more detail; therefore part 3 now comprises v. 3 and half of v. 4 of the original from 1559 to the end of the Truce, 1621.

 Lovers of Mrs. Dodd's "Three Normandy Inns" will welcome this book about the quaint old town of Falaise. She describes a driving trip, starting from the famous Inn at Dives, the second of the "Three Normandy Inns," into the loveliest part of Normandy, across the Caen plain to the cliffs of Falaise. She gives an account of the Falaise Fair, the Famous Eleventh Century Horse Fair, the greatest of its kind in Europe, and still in full living. The second part of the work deals with the history of the town, William the Conqueror's birthplace, his great fortress, his sieges, and his starting forth for the conquest of England. The illustrations are from recent French photographs of the streets, churches, chateaux, the Falaise Fair, etc.

Gives a simple and succinct account of the lives and doctrines of the great systematic philosophers and of those ancient and mediæval philosophers who have proposed some explanation of existence or some theory of conduct. The word "philosophy" in the title of the book, in accord with long-established usage, refers for the most part to metaphysics (or ontology) and in a less degree to ethics. Questions and a vocabulary complete the book.

This work, the first of a new series, has a two-fold purpose. Its first aim is to classify the linguistic material of this Upanisad for the use of philologists in studying the life and growth of the language spoken by the ancient Hindus, and in determining the literary relation of the Chaudogya to other Upanisads and to the general mass of Sanskrit literature. Its second aim is to furnish sufficient grammatical and lexical data to serve as a special dictionary for those who shall read this piece of literature for the first time. Bibliography (1 p.).

It is the purpose of this book, says the author, to serve as a short introduction to the comparative physiology of the brain and central nervous system. Acting upon the conviction that the laws of life-phenomena can only be established by including all classes of the animal kingdom, and by the study and comparison of vertebrates and invertebrates, Dr. Loeb introduces some interesting scientific experiments.

 This work is the result of two independent compilations, and is sold in one or two volumes. The members of the "Cumulative Index" staff under Marion E. Potter are the original compilers of the first part or "Author index," while Mr. G: F. Danforth, librarian of the state University of Indiana, Bloomington, Indiana, is the compiler of the second part or "Title index," the one supplementing the other, and having been carefully compared by both editors. The "Author index" of 755 pages gives in one alphabet, under author, or title where the book is anonymous, the books in print of over 450 well-known publishing houses, besides the books of about 1500 occasional publishers and printers. In the author entry, price, edition and publisher are given—there are also brief series entries and ample references. These details are omitted in the "Title index," so called. A directory of publishers covers fifteen pages, and there is a classified index to the advertising pages included in the volume.

"This little book embodies a protest against the idea that the morals of marriage are a subject to be discussed by physicians alone, and as incidental to sexual pathology. . . . But this book aims to be more than a protest. Its purpose is constructive—to point the way positively as well as negatively along which people may go to a life of greater happiness, keener intelligence, and truer responsibility."—Preface.

Winship, Albert E: Jukes-Edwards: a study in education and heredity. Harrisburg, Pa., R. L. Myers & Co., 1900. c. 88 p. S. cl., 50 c.; pap., 25 c.

A comparison of a typical family of degenerates of whom R. A. Dugdale made a study under the name of "The Jukes," with the descendants of Jonathan Edwards of New England colonial fame. The aim is to illustrate the results in the very opposite extremes of vice and ignorance and nobility of character and culture. The long line of professional men descending from the great Jonathan Edwards, is a fine offset to the incapables of the "Jukes" family. Incidentally there is a defence of Aaron Burr, who was a descendant through his mother's side of Jonathan Edwards.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

DECEMBER 15, 1900.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Books for the "Weekly Record," as well as all information intended for that department, should reach this office by Tuesday morning of each week.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

REFORM MOVEMENT IN FRANCE.

TRULY, as Sterne said over a century ago, "they order this matter better in France." While the book-trade of this country and elsewhere are discussing the problem of reducing the advertised prices of books, French publishers and booksellers have found another solution. As noted by us earlier in the year, the French retail book-trade, unable to induce the publishers to protect them against loss in selling books, either by reducing the advertised price of their books or by increasing the discount to the retail trade, unanimously agreed themselves to lessen the discount made to private buyers. The movement did not result in any appreciable diminution of trade, and the publishers, no doubt encouraged by the success of the line of action adopted by the retail trade, and pushed to the wall by advances in the price of paper—amounting in cheaper grades to 45 or 50 per cent.—some months ago raised the prices of certain grades of the cheaper books on which the manufacturing profit had reached the vanishing point. The movement began by doubling the price of the 25 centime books and by raising the price of the books at one franc and upwards from ten to twenty-five per cent. As the paper crisis is still acute, prices on other grades may also be increased, in which case a further advance in the prices of books all along the line seems probable, the French book-trade being determined not to bear the burden of loss alone.

The progress of this experiment is interesting, because it seems to demonstrate in a practical manner the soundness of a position hitherto regarded as untenable by the retail book trade, namely, that reform is possible from the bottom up. Nowhere was the disorganization of the retail book trade more complete than in France, and nowhere was the opinion stronger that salvation could come only through the initiative of the publisher. When every effort failed to bring this about the bookseller, in sheer desperation, set to work to help himself by returning to saner business methods, and demanding from his constituency more adequate return for his services—in the case of books under a franc abolishing the discount to the public altogether, and in the case of the books at a franc and upwards cutting the discount down to less than a fifth. Not only has the French bookseller succeeded in helping himself, but by his example has encouraged the publisher to take like steps for his own self-preservation. Whether in the present state of competition in this country similar results could be had without the help of publishers is, of course, more of a question.

SWEDISH BIBLIOGRAPHY.

IF we except H. Schück's "Skrifter i svensk litteraturhistoria," in Samlaren, 1887, which only incidentally mentions bibliographies, Bernhard Lundstedt's report on Swedish bibliography, presented at the Congrès Internationale de Bibliographie,* at Paris, last August, is the first list of Swedish bibliographies published since 1829, when one was given in the introduction to "Svensk bibliographie" for that year.

The literature of bibliographies of bibliography, treating the subject within national limits, is fairly numerous. G. Gennadi published a list of Russian bibliographies in foreign languages in Neuer Anzeiger für Bibliographie, for 1857 and 1858, and a list of similar publications in Russian as a separate volume, (St. Petersburg, 1858.) Another list of Russian bibliographies, particularly devoted to history and archaeology, published in 1890, was compiled by H. Bokatchev, as the catalogue of his own library. The "Yearbook of Education," (New York, 1879,) contained a list of "practical bibliographical publications issued in Germany, Austria, and Switzerland," compiled by Ernst Steiger. The first part of G. B. Montarolo's "Biblioteca bibliografica Italiana," printed in 1885, but interrupted by the death of the author, was afterwards incorporated in Ottino and Fumagalli's "Bibliotheca bibliographica Italica, (2 v. 1889-1895;) of the promised annual supplements to this work, those for 1895 and 1896 only seem to have appeared.* C. Mazzi published, in Rivista delle biblioteche, a supplement to the first volume of Ottino and Fumagalli's work, which was subsequently reprinted as a separate pamphlet. P. Berghman's "Répertoire méthodique decimal des travaux bibliographiques parus en Belgique, 1881-1890," appeared in Bulletin de la Société liégeoise de bibliographie, and also in separate form, (Liège, 1890.) The comprehensive Swiss national bibliography, compiled and published by a special bibliographical commission, is introduced by a list of "Travaux bibliographiques préliminaire," by J. H. Graf. The bibliographical literature relating to India was recorded by Frank Campbell in 1897, and reissued in 1899; the one relating to the Philippine Islands by A. G. S. Josephson in Bulletin of Bibliography for October, 1899, was reprinted as "Bulletin of bibliography pamphlets, no. 7." American bibliography was first treated by N. Trübner and H. E. Ludwig in a separate chapter of "Trübner's bibliographical guide to American literature," (London, 1859); by J. Petzhold in Neuer Anzeiger für Bibliographie for the same year; by H. Harris, in the introduction to his "Bibliotheca vetustissima Americana," (1866;) and by A. Growoll in his "Book-trade bibliography in the United States" (New York, 1898.) English and American bibliographies have been recorded in "Annual literary index," since 1892.

The bibliography of national bibliographies in general was surveyed in 1856 by J. Petzholdt in Neuer Anzeiger für Bibliographie, in 1870; by G. Pawlowski in Polybiblion, (also reprinted as a small pamphlet;) and in 1899 by W. S. Merrill in "Year-book of the Bibliographical Society of Chicago."

Dr. Lundstedt's list is a very useful survey of the bibliographical literature of Sweden, and, while not claiming absolute completeness, is reasonably complete. It is to be hoped that the author may add to his material, and issue a complete bibliography of Swedish bibliographies, with critical and descriptive notes. The notes in the present edition are mainly French translations of the Swedish titles.

There is not as yet any complete bibliography of Swedish literature; but a fairly comprehensive view may be obtained by consulting different publications, such as "Svenskt biografiskt lexikon," (1835-1892,) in 33 volumes, not yet completed; "Nordisk familjebok. Konversations-lexikon och realencyclopædi," (1876-1899,) 18 volumes, and a supplement in course of publication; C. J. Lennström's "Svensk litteratur och konst-historia," (1841;) P. Wieselgren's "Sveriges sköna litteratur," (1833-1849;) and L. Hammarsköld's "Svenska vittevheten," (1818-19, 2d ed., 1833.) All of the foregoing contain numerous bibliographical references. G. E. Klemming's "Sveriges bibliografi 1481-1600," edited by Aksel Anderson, founded on the collections of the Royal Library of Stockholm, but not confined to them, came to a standstill in 1892 with the 4th part, carrying the work down to 1530. C. G. Warmholtz's "Bibliotheca historica Sveo-Gothica," printed during 1782-1817, is really more than a historical bibliography, including all books, known to the author, earlier than 1782, that treat historically of any Swedish subject. For the period between 1830 and 1865 we have H. Linnström's "Svenskt boklexikon," a very complete and careful work; its continuations, from 1865 to 1886, by C. J. Brohery, and from 1886 to 1895, by A. Thelin and A. Victorin, do not come quite up to the high standard set by Linnström.

Swedish literature has been annually recorded in "Svensk bibliographie" between 1828 and 1865, and in "Årskatalog för Svenska bokhandeln" since 1855. Svensk bokhandelstidning, since 1863, records the issues of the press week by week, and is the foundation for the annual lists. Periodical literature has been recorded by P. W. Tholander, in 1811, and B. Lundstedt, in 1894-1896; the latter work, not yet completed, is a particularly important publication. A beginning to an annual index of articles in periodicals was made in 1892 by A. G. S. Josephson, in Svensk tidskrift, but not followed up. School books were catalogued by L. Hammarsköld in 1817-1832; B. Lundstedt, in 1881; G. Eneström, in 1891; and in a list published for the Stockholm exhibition in 1897. Doctor dissertations and other theses and "program" publications were recorded by J. H. Lidén, 1778-80, by G. Marklin, 1820-56, by C. G. Wahlberg, 1877, and by A. G. S. Josephson, 1892-97, together covering this whole literature from the earliest times to 1890. For the Paris exhibition in 1900, Aksel Anderson compiled a catalogue of the Swedish educational exhibit, containing also a bibliography relating to universities, libraries, museums, learned societies, scientific journals, etc. The registers of the members of the various learned professions usually give lists of the publications of the persons registered. Among such registers the following should be remembered: "Läroverksmatrikel" (Register of high school teachers,) by S. G. Dahl, four different issues, (1874-1899;) "Upsala Universitets styresmän, lärare och tjänstemän 1872-1897," by Aksel Anderson, contained in the memorial volume published by the University at the twenty-fifth anniversary of the present king; "Lunds Universitets styrelse, styresmän, embets och tjänstemän 1668-1868," by M. Weibull and E. Tegnér; "Svensk läkarehistoria ifrån Konung Gustaf I:s till närvarande tid," by J. F. Sacklén, (1824-1835;) continued by A. H. Wistrand, A. J. Bruzelius and C. Edling, (1853-1897.)

Lists ofonyms and pseudonyms have been published in periodicals or privately printed; a new comprehensive work, "Svenskt anonym- och pseudonym-lexikon," by L. Bygdén, is in course of publication by Svenska Literatursällskapet.

*The last number of the Bulletin de l'Institut internationale de bibliographie, (nos. 1-2, for 1900,) announces that the Bolletino della Società bibliografica italiana contains an article entitled, "Scritti recenti [1897-1898,] pubblicati in Italia o riguardanti l'Italia contenenti la bibliografia dell' argomento." Presumably this means that Ottino's annual supplement is discontinued.

Swedish historical literature has been annually recorded by C. S. Silfverstolpe in Historiskt bibliotek, 1876-1880, and in Historisk tidskrift, 1880-1889, by the same author, and from 1891 to 1900 by K. Setterwall. Various writers have contributed the Swedish part to Jahresberichte der Geschichtswissenschaft. Literary history is treated in Samlaren, the journal of Svenska Literatursällskapet, by G. Stjernström, (1880-1882,) and E. H. Lind, (1883-1898.)

That the Sueco-Finnish bibliography has been entirely omitted, is the only serious gap in Dr. Lundstedt's work. No record of Swedish literature is complete without the literature of the Swedes in Finland. I will here mention only the catalogue of Swedish belles-lettres, published in Finland up to and including the year 1885, by Arvid Hultin, and the five years' catalogues of the whole of Swedish literature in Finland by H. Bergroth, 1886-1890, and Yrjö Hirn, 1891-1895, the two latter published by Svenska Literatursällskapet i Finland. "Finsk biografisk handbok," in course of publication under the editorship of Tor Carpelan, will also contain bibliographical information.

AKSEL G. S. JOSEPHSON.

MODERN PRINTING VAGARIES.

COMMENTING on Mr. De Vinne's remarks in the Times Saturday Review, quoted in our issue for December 8, Louis Rhead, the well-known artist and decorator, in another issue of the Times Saturday Review says:

"Mr. De Vinne's article in The Review is of great interest. Opinions such as these are of the utmost value to all who wish to know the best in the printer's art. It is most natural that he protests, and strongly, too, against the host of wretched imitators of William Morris and the style he chose to work. This country is now being flooded with numberless folk, without money, and often without brains, who open up what they call a press and begin to print any mortal thing they imagine people will buy, with no idea whatever either of decorative art or the art of printing. Hardly a week passes by that we do not get circulars of stuff being printed from some corner of this great land. It began with a few queer things like The Chap-Book, The Philistine, The Lark, and others. Some quickly raised their circulation by puffery and quack art, The Lark being the worst rubbish that could possibly be made, with not a vestige of art or literature in it. The Sage of Aurora was sharp enough not to dabble in decorating his things. When he does it is painfully evident he is utterly devoid of even a shadow of the principles of decorative laws in the make-up of a book. On the other hand, Morris was a giant, for the very reason that he thoroughly understood the laws and principles of decoration, added to the possession of a rare culture and refined art instinct. Mr. De Vinne is right.

especially when he says, 'Morris has but one style of printing, (mediaeval,) and did it well,' but he could have just as easily taken up any style or period of printing and done it just as well as the style he chose, because of his ability and artistic knowledge combined with the printer's craft, as any craft he studied he mastered. He had not the advantage of a lifelong training as a printer, but took it up and did something individually suited to his nature of poet and writer.* He chose the period because all his literary work and those of his friends saw in it something beautiful. He did not care a rap for other printers, the press, or general public, but sold his work privately.

"It is a question if a grand prize at the Paris Exposition counts for anything, because we think Mr. De Vinne himself can print as good as any man living, if he had other art adjuncts to work with him. We will admit this book justifies the award, because Mr. De Vinne says so; but then he is just as strong in the opinion of his style as Morris was in the style he worked in; and we hardly need go to Portugal to get fine printing, for it seems quite out of place that a country which has never been known to produce art in any of its branches should take the highest honors from America, England, France and Germany, which have for centuries done fine work, that can be seen now in the great libraries and museums. The general public see nothing of the fine printing done in England, France, or America; it goes direct from the printer to the bibliophile, and does not compete for, or care for, exposition medals.

"As to the paper used, however rough-faced, we would prefer our finger tips sore rather than our eyes sore from the gloss and glare of a highly polished, smooth paper, used so extensively here for the purpose of getting the finest cuts sharp and clean. Many artists in France and England say they would rather have a little roughness in their pictures than clean and sharp on shiny paper. I have heard Mr. Morris time and again speak and lecture at the Art Workers' Guild, Clifford's Inn, Fleet Street, on these very subjects, and he always spoke of Japan, Dutch, and Whatman papers as being best suited to good and finely printed books; and have seen him day after day in the Art Library of South Kensington poring over ancient books and manuscripts to get the best he could for his own use. He certainly did not have shiny paper, or ink, either, as both make it difficult to see type or cuts. But Morris did not expect or think his printing perfect. The truth is he could not find a printer unhampered by traditions, or one who understood decorative art; therefore, for the purpose of a complete setting of his own literary labors, he bravely went to work and did it himself. Everybody who knows what art is gives him credit for having done (for the short time he studied the craft) what no other man had done before.

"I have studied for thirty years and watched most carefully the best work done in books and their decorations—have worked and am still working for the best printers in London and Paris—and my opinion is that something can be said on both sides, and that could the best of each be happily blended, perfect work would be the result.

"It is a well-known fact that Morris was wild with rage when he saw unprincipled printers here, as well as typefounders, making up his own style for trade advertisements and cheap books. The fault lies rather in those who stoop to do it, and for Mr. De Vinne to class the Vale Press alongside of Roycroft is queer, to say the least. Ricketts does understand the laws of decoration. He never had an initial bigger than his page of type with margin of white paper twice the size of both. The question of spacing of a page is not a matter of taste, but of laws and principles. Few understand them, and many printers do not know such a thing exists in decorative art, as applied to bookmaking. That is exactly why the crowd of mushroom printers do and will inflict on a long suffering public their vulgar wares, which rouses the disgust of such a master as Theodore De Vinne.

"It is the imitators of Morris who turn back the wheels of improvement he did of tradition by not following blindly the path of others, and made himself a power which can never be torn down or injured by tawdry or incompetent workers. For, why is it that so many American as well as French bibliophiles have bought the Morris books, paying such enormous prices, (higher than any other modern book,) not because of their rarity, but because of their artistic beauty, the perfect blending of art and craftsmanship, the true understanding and rendering of correct decorative laws? If space were allowed, this law of decoration could be explained more fully. All artists know, or should know, the laws of even distribution of space, of color, of composition of line, of curvature of contrasts, etc. They are all given in Ruskin and others who go deeply into this subject, and it is equally important that all who are concerned in the making of a book should know them. When they do, the result will be work as beautiful as that of William Morris."

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS REPORT.

THE annual report of the Librarian of Congress was submitted to that body on the 6th inst. It shows that during the year there were 38,110 books and pamphlets added to the library, making a total of 995,166. Of the books added during the year 10,599 came through the operation of the copyright law. There were other accessions of 16,605 pieces of music; prints, 14,948; maps and charts, 3536, and manuscripts, 778. Among the manuscripts secured during the year were 400 letters and other papers written by Harman Blennerhassett, the friend of Aaron Burr.

The total number of visitors to the library during the year was 655,439; of readers, 123,844; of books issued, 364,396. There were 94,798 copyright entries.

Mr. Putnam renews his recommendation for a reference library for the use of Congress.

THE POSTAL SERVICE.

THE financial operations of the Postal Department for the last fiscal year, according to the annual report of Postmaster-General Charles Emory Smith, are shown briefly in the following statement:

Ordinary postal revenue.....	$100,899,433.44
Receipts from money order business..	1,455,145.85

Total receipts from all sources.....	$102,354,579.29
Total expenditures for the year.....	107,740,267.99

Excess of expenditures over receipts. $5,385,688.70

From this statement it will be observed that the revenues have now passed the $100,000,000 mark; also, that while the expenditures were over $6,000,000 greater than for the previous fiscal year, the deficit for the year 1899-1900 was only $5,385,688, being $1,225,088 less than that of the previous year. The following is an estimate of the revenues and expenditures of the postal service, which has been transmitted to the Secretary of the Treasury, for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1902:

Total postal revenue for 1900.....	$102,354,579
Add 7½ per cent. for estimated increase
year ending June 30, 1901.....	7,676,593

Estimated revenue for 1901.....	$110,031,172
Add 6 per cent. for estimated increase
year ending June 30, 1902.....	6,601,870

Estimated revenue for 1902.....	$116,633,042
Estimated expenditure for 1902.....	121,276,349

Deficiency for 1902, estimate..... $4,634,307

Referring to the handling of second-class matter, in which the trade is specially interested, General Smith says: "In my last annual report I pointed out the flagrant abuses which prevail in connection with second-class matter, and urged the importance of remedial legislation. As already indicated, this obligation is emphasized by the broad policy just developing of extending rural delivery throughout the country, the whole net cost of which could be paid by what would be saved in stopping the second-class abuses. The subject is one which should not be permitted to drop until the vital reform is accomplished. There should be no abatement of the protest or effort against the perpetuation of evils which have insidiously grown up through the ingenious perversion of the law's intent in furthering private interests and which have now become a heavy public burden. Their elimination, while doing no injustice in any quarter, would effect a saving ranging from $12,000,000 to $20,000,000 a year, and would relieve the way for legitimate postal advances in every direction."

TO BUILD SIX PAPER MILLS.

THE Milwaukee Sentinel, on the 1st inst., says that Wisconsin capitalists, some of them Milwaukee men, are said to be interested in six different propositions to build paper and pulp mills. At a low estimate the cost of these mills, if all are erected, will be $1,200,000, and they will have an output of about two hundred and ten tons of paper daily. One of the mills is to have four machines and another only one, and the estimate given is on the supposition that the other four mills will have only one machine each. If they were to have two machines each the estimate would be increased to about $1,800,000 and the amount of product to 310 tons.

The propositions include the erection of a four-machine paper mill at Appleton, Wis., with a pulp mill in the same vicinity. The cost would be approximately $500,000 and the output 100 tons of print paper daily. Other mills of smaller capacity and less cost are contemplated near St. Paul, Minn., at Petoskey, Mich., at Crystal Falls, Mich., and another at some place not yet announced.

PUBLISHING IN CENTRAL AFRICA.

THE Catholic fathers have a flourishing mission station on the west shore of Lake Tanganyika, at a place where the forest comes nearly down to the water's edge. This place has been known for fifteen years on the maps as Mpala and much has been written about it as a station where the Catholic missionaries have been trying to introduce civilization in a most practical manner.

"Here in the depths of Central Africa," according to the New York Sun, "they have been teaching the natives how to make brick and lumber, how to improve the quality of the iron they dig from their hills, how to make better implements from this useful metal and the best methods of tilling their crops. A great many natives have come from far around to enter the schools at Mpala.

"A year ago this month the natives who had been taught to set type in the printing office made their first book. A few copies of it have reached Europe and attracted considerable attention. The little book is a geography. It tells in the native language and in the simplest manner, something about the world. It gives the most interesting facts about the geography and peoples of some of the great nations. There are only fifty-six pages in it, but they contain a great deal of information without being crowded with so much detail as to make the story hard to read.

"Father G. Van Acker wrote the little volume, superintended the typesetting and printing, and made the map which adorns the work. The natives under his tuition attended to every mechanical detail, from typesetting to binding. The book is an excellent specimen of typography, considering that it is the first effort of the black printers who made it; and furnishes conclusive evidence that progress is making in the heart of Central Africa."

COPYRIGHT MATTERS.

KIPLING VS. R. F. FENNO & CO.

THE application by Rudyard Kipling for an injunction to restrain R. F. Fenno & Co. from further publication or sale of two editions of the author's work came up before Judge Lacombe on the 7th inst. in the United States Circuit Court, New York. Augustus T. Gurlitz appeared for Mr. Kipling, and Stephen M. Olin, of Olin & Rives, for the publishers.

Mr. Gurlitz said that there was no question of copyright in the motion, but that it was simply a suit brought to put an end to the publication of an unauthorized edition, which, by the use of Mr. Kipling's trademark of an elephant's head, was an attempt to stamp it as an author's authorized edition.

Mr. Gurlitz presented affidavits from John Kendrick Bangs, Samuel L. Clemens, F. P. Dunne and H. W. Mabie and Edmund Clarence Stedman, all of whom said that, from their own experience with their works, they had observed a decided inclination on the part of publishers to foist spurious editions upon the public, which they masqueraded as authorized editions. They all agreed that the intervention of the courts was necessary to stop this practice. Mr. Olin, for the defence, argued in favor of cheaper books, and praised publishers who got out editions that the poor people could buy. Judge Lacombe took the papers and reserved his decision.

BOOK TRADE ASSOCIATIONS.

STATIONERS' BOARD OF TRADE DINNER.

THE STATIONERS' BOARD OF TRADE will give its annual dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria on the evening of January 23.

THE BUYERS' ASSOCIATION.

THE BUYERS' ASSOCIATION OF AMERICA have removed from 396 Broadway to "The Poplars," 26 East Twentieth Street, New York, where they will occupy a whole floor divided so as to secure privacy in correspondence and interviews. Every facility will be provided for transacting business by stenographer, telephone, telegraph and messenger service. Mr. L. Bobbe is at present secretary of the Association.

B. C. T.'S ANNUAL DINNER.

THE BROTHERHOOD OF COMMERCIAL TRAVELLERS will give its sixteenth annual dinner on Thursday evening, December 27, in Healy's Dungeon, at the corner of Columbus Avenue and Sixty-sixth Street. The festivity will be in the nature of a "beefsteak dinner," and the dungeon will be found an attractive and comfortable place. It is expected that the trenchermen will be at the board at 8 o'clock sharp. Tickets at "four bones" apiece may be had of Clarence A. Caldwell, 11 East Sixteenth Street, New York.

OBITUARY NOTES.

CHARLES E. MORRIS, proprietor of the Powers, Block Book, Stationery and Art Store, Rochester, N. Y., died December 3, at his residence on Oxford Street, in that city. Mr. Morris was born at Rochester in 1840. He was a son of Owen Morris, who for years conducted a large bookbindery in the old Museum building on Exchange Street, where the Bank of Monroe now stands. Charles Morris as a boy was employed in the bookstore of George W. Fisher & Co., on Exchange Street. He remained as clerk with this firm and its successors—Adams & Ellis and S. A. Ellis & Co.—until early in the seventies he with his associate, Mr. Marion, succeeded the old firm as Marion & Morris, which firm-name shortly after became C. E.

Morris & Co. In 1875 he became sole proprietor of the business which in 1880 was removed from the Ellwood building to the new Powers Block, where at first it occupied the store now used as a barber shop, until it was transferred to the stores on Main and State Streets, where it now is.

Mr. Morris was an active and enterprising citizen. While never a seeker after office, he was active in politics and exerted influence with the leaders of the Republican party of the county. He was Collector of the Port at Rochester, from August 13, 1883, to May 31, 1887. He was a member of Rochester Lodge 660, F. and A. M., and Cyrene Commandery 39, K. T. Mr. Morris was married in 1868 to Sarah Thompson, who, with one daughter, Mrs. George W. Weldon, and one grandchild, one sister, Mrs. Henry B. Hoyt, and one brother, George O. Morris of Washington, survive him. Mr. Morris had long been ably supported in the business by his brother-in-law, Henry B. Hoyt, who will very likely continue the business.

At a meeting of the book and stationery trades of Rochester, held at the store of Scrantom, Wetmore & Co. December 4, at which the following firms were represented, R. M. Myers, E. Darrow, Williamson Law Book Co., Yawman & Stupp, L. Merk, Alling & Cory, Alfred Jackson, Vorberg Bros., and Scrantom, Wetmore & Co., the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, It has pleased Almighty God to remove from a busy and useful life our friend and esteemed fellow citizen, Charles E. Morris,

Resolved, That in his death we mourn the loss of a genial, kind-hearted man who was a friend to all. A man respected and looked up to by the community, and one whose place it will be difficult to fill.

Resolved, That as a mark of respect the Book and Paper Trade be represented at his funeral, and a copy of these resolutions be furnished to the press and sent to the family of the deceased.

R. M. MYERS, Chairman,
E. DARROW, Secretary.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY have ceased to act as the publishers of the International Monthly. All communications for that journal should hereafter be addressed to the International Monthly, Burlington, Vermont.

The Critic will begin in its January issue the publication of a series of papers of literary recollections by George M. Smith of the London Publishing house of Smith, Elder & Co. These are entitled "In the Early Forties," and two instalments have already appeared in the Cornhill Magazine.

ALFRED BARTLETT, 21 Cornhill, Boston, the publisher of The Cornhill Booklet, will publish during the coming year an American edition of The Page, an illustrated quarterly published in London, under the editorship of Edward Gordon Craig. The edition will be limited to 300 numbered copies, of which 288 will be for sale to subscribers only for the four numbers at $4. A Christmas number of The Page will appear shortly. It will be the only number published in 1900 and the only number obtainable singly.

THERE are published in New York City, according to the New York Evening Post, four Arabic newspapers and one Arabic magazine. One of the newspapers used to be published daily; "but when the editor determined to work no longer from eight o'clock in the morning until six o'clock at night for his small stipend, and resigned one day, it was suddenly turned into a semi-weekly, for they could find no other scholar in the quarter capable of undertaking so much work in so short a space of time." These papers circulate in all parts of the United States and Canada, and find their way in numbers to Egypt, and, thoroughly censored, to the home land. The circulation, in fact, is said to be sufficient to make the business of publishing them quite a profitable one.

BIBLIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

BEGINNING with the new year, the publication house of Felix Dietrich of Leipzig will issue annual volumes of a "Bibliographie der Deutschen Recenzionen," as a supplement to the "Bibliographie der Zeitschriften-Literatur." The editor is the well-known littérateur, L. Jellinek, and the purpose is to furnish a list of the book reviews that have appeared during the year 1900 in about 1000 scientific and technical journals of Germany.

THE J. C. Hinrich'sche Buchhandlung, Leipzig, proposes to publish a "Deutscher Verleger-Katalog." (German Publishers' Catalogue,) which is to fill the gap left in German bibliography since 1893, when the publication of Heinsius's "Bücherlexikon," and of Russell's "Gesamtverlagskatalog," was suspended. The new work is to begin its records with 1893, giving the titles of the Hinrichs' half-yearly catalogues in unabridged form, arranged under the names of publishers, and is to be published once every five years.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

P. BLAKISTON'S SON & Co., Philadelphia, have just ready the Lindsay & Blakiston's "Physician's Visiting List," for 1901, the fiftieth year of its publication.

ALEXANDER DENHAM & Co., from their New York office, report that they have imported a number of copies of Miss Prideaux's "Catalogue of Bindings," which they are ready to supply to the trade.

FREDERICK A. STOKES & Co. have in preparation a novel entitled "Philbrick Howell," by Albert Kinross, author of "An Opera and Lady Grasmere;" also, "A Maryland Manor," a new novel of the South, by Frederic Emory.

LITTLE, BROWN & Co. have just issued a new edition of the works of George Eliot, in twelve volumes. The set contains a series of photogravure frontispieces by H. L. Richardson, and includes a "Life of George Eliot" by Mathilde Blind.

D. APPLETON & Co. have just ready "A New Pronouncing Dictionary of the Spanish and English Languages," compiled by Mariano Velázquez de la Cadena, late professor of Spanish language and literature at Columbia College, revised and enlarged by Edward Gray and Juan L. Iribas.

JOHN MORLEY, who is now occupying the house at Hindhead which Grant Allen built for himself, will publish next spring "The Life of Richard Cobden," which will be the first popular life of the "apostle of free trade" ever published. Mr. Morley is also busily at work on his "Life of Gladstone."

JOHN LANE will publish shortly a novel entitled "The Column," by Charles Marriott. The author has not written before, yet his manuscript, which was sent to the Bodley Head, London, in the usual way, was endorsed by three readers as a remarkable effort. One of the readers was Sidney Colvin.

C. M. CLARK PUBLISHING CO., 86 Massachusetts Avenue, Boston, announce that the first edition of "Quincy Adams Sawyer," the delightfully exciting story of country life in New England, by Charles Felton Pidgin, has been exhausted, and that the advance orders will nearly take up the second edition published this week.

THOMAS WHITTAKER, New York, has just published "A Church Calendar for 1901, according to the usage of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America." It is arranged to give the order of service for every day, and also gives "quotations upon the Christian life and the Church's ways." It is attractively gotten up and retails for 50 cents.

GAMMEL BOOK CO., Austin, Tex., have in press "A New Annotated Constitution of Texas," by D. B. Axtell, with all amendments and decisions up to date, including S. W. Reporter, Crim. App. and Supreme Court Reports. All cases relating to the respective parts of each section of the Constitution are placed together, and references made where different sections are discussed together.

BROKERS of the New York and Philadelphia Stock Exchanges are evincing great interest in the book entitled "To the Healing of the Sea," by Francis H. Hardy, a one-time broker, published by Drexel Biddle. Something better than 100 copies were ordered by the New York brokers in one day recently. It is particularly interesting to them, as it contains bits from Mr. Hardy's own experience on "change," written in story form.

CASELL & COMPANY, Limited, expect to publish before the close of the year the third and concluding volume of the important fine art work, "The National Gallery," edited by Sir Edward J. Poynter, illustrating every picture in the National Gallery. Only a few of the 250 copies allotted to the United States remain unsold. Should any copies remain unsold on January 1, 1901, the publishers will very likely advance the price.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS have just ready two attractive readers—"The Howells Story Book," made up of selections from the writings of William Dean Howells, edited by Mary E. Burt and Mildred Howells, with a sketch of Mr. Howells, and illustrations by his daughter, Mildred; also, "Herakles, the hero of Thebes and other heroes of the myth, adapted from the Second Book of the Primary Schools of Athens, Greece," by Mary E. Burt and Zenaïde A. Ragozin with a number of illustrations.

FLEMING H. REVELL COMPANY will publish shortly the first New Testament volume of Dr. Alexander Whyte's series of "Bible Characters." Dr. Whyte is the senior pastor of the Free St. Georges of Edinburgh. In this historic church Hugh Black, author of "Friendship," officiates as associate pastor. The present volume is the fourth series of Dr. Whyte's "Bible Characters," the period here covered being from "Joseph and Mary" to "James, the Lord's brother." The book contains sketches, among others, of John the Baptist, Nicodemus, Thomas, Pontius Pilate and Mary Magdalene.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS have in preparation an historical work entitled "Spanish Settlements Within the Present Limits of the United States," by Woodbury Lowery. The author will show that prior to the Treaty of Ryswick, in 1697, Spain had nominal possession of most of the land now occupied by the United States, and that the English settlers on the New England coast, the French in the St. Lawrence basin, and the Dutch in New Amsterdam were practically interlopers, whom Spain could legally have driven from the country had she only possessed the power to maintain her rights. They have also in preparation a story by Elizabeth Knight Tompkins, entitled "His Kind."

TRUSLOVE, HANSON & COMBA, Ltd., New York, will publish shortly an interesting reprint, entitled "The Club, or, a Grey Cap for a Green Head: Moral Maxims, Advice and Cautions, in a Dialogue between a Father and Son," by James Puckle, N. P., with an introduction by Austin Dobson, and fifty illustrations from the celebrated designs by Thurston, cut on wood by the foremost engravers of the early part of the nineteenth century; also, "Art Crafts for Amateurs," by Fred. Miller, with numerous illustrations. The high appreciation in which Mr. Miller's "Training of a Craftsman" is held by teachers in technical schools, many of whom have adopted it as a text-book, leads the publishers to anticipate a heavy demand for the new book, which, like its precursor, is a very interesting example of book-making—the author's originality and practical knowledge being shown in his own illustrations—extending even to designs for covers, end-papers, etc.

R. H. RUSSELL will publish on the 20th inst. an edition de luxe of "L'Aiglon," in the English rendering in verse, by Louis N. Parker, as played by Maude Adams. The text will be printed on heavy wove paper, and the pictures of Maude Adams in the title role, on heavy plate paper. The volume will be bound in blue leather stamped in gold. Mr. Russell will publish within a week a souvenir of Mary Mannering in "Janice Meredith." Like all the Russell souvenirs, this will contain sixteen pages of heavy plate paper filled with beautiful reproductions of Miss Mannering in scenes from the play. It will have a striking embossed cover. At the same time will be published a Lillian Burkhardt souvenir of smaller size than the Mannering souvenir, but containing twenty-four pages of reproductions. Early in January Mr. Russell will publish "Ah, What Riddles These Women Be," a narrative poem by William Young, who dramatized "Ben Hur," and is the author of "Wishmaker's Town" and of "Pendragon," and "Ganelon," two dramatic poems which followers of the stage will remember were produced by the late Lawrence Barrett. This will be followed by an exquisite reproduction of the drawings of "The Apocalypse," by Albrecht Dürer, with an appropriate text by Fitzroy Carrington.

PICK-UPS.

IN a Dumfries school, a boy, in the course of an essay, made the following astounding assertion: "The Bible was written by a man called Oxford, and it is printed at the universities."

"ARTHUR PENDENYS," in Hatchard's Books of To-day and the Books of To-morrow, asks "Why would publishers make bad anarchists?" The answer is, "Because they dislike to pay out royalties."

RESTING HIS EYES.—Exchange Editor: I am sorry to say my eyes have gone back on me and I can't read any more. Can't you give me something else to do? Managing Editor: You might do book reviews.

AUCTION SALES.

[Under this heading advance notices will be inserted without charge, of book auction sales to be held anywhere in the United States. Word should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.]

DECEMBER 14, 3 P. M.—Miscellaneous; also, engravings, etc. (368 lots.)—Bangs.

DECEMBER 18, 19, 3 P. M.—Miscellaneous books, also autographs. (610 lots.)—Bangs.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted," book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five nonpareil lines exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be enclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

Under the heading "Situations Wanted," subscribers are entitled to one free insertion of five lines. For repeated matter and advertisements of non-subscribers the charge is 10 cents a line.

All other small, undisplaced, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

Parties desiring to receive answers to their advertisements through this office should either call for them or enclose postage stamps with their orders for the insertion of such advertisements. In all cases we must have the full address of advertisers, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith.

BOOKS WANTED.

In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly," does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

Notable Among The Macmillan Company's Holiday Books are

F. MARION CRAWFORD'S

RULERS OF THE SOUTH is a companion to "AVE ROMA IMMORTALIS," and tells the history of SICILY, CALABRIA, and MALTA, in two volumes, illustrated by HENRY BROKMAN, with 28 photogravure plates and nearly 100 smaller cuts in the text.
Limited Edition on large paper, 125 copies, $12.50 net; Cloth, Crown 8vo, $6.00 net.

IN THE PALACE OF THE KING is a novel of rare power; it does not picture a bygone age, but simply puts its reader into it among living men of that time. Illustrated by FRED ROE.
Cloth, Crown 8vo, $1.50

MAURICE HEWLETT'S

THE LIFE AND DEATH OF RICHARD YEA AND NAY is a novel of a still older time, that of Richard Cœur de Lion—a story as marvellous in its atmosphere, though very different from "The Forest Lovers."
Cloth, Crown 8vo, $1.50

HAMILTON W. MABIE'S

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE, POET, DRAMATIST, AND MAN, is an able presentation of the great poet in all his relations to his own time. With 100 illustrations, including photogravure plates, half-tone reproductions of photographs, old records, etc.
Ooze Calf, 8vo, $6.00

JAMES LANE ALLEN'S

A KENTUCKY CARDINAL AND ITS SEQUEL AFTERMATH, bound in one volume with drawings by HUGH THOMSON, is one of the most sympathetically illustrated books of the season, exceptionally attractive.
Cloth, gilt, $2.50

CLIFTON JOHNSON'S

ALONG FRENCH BYWAYS is one of those charming narratives of a stroller's journeyings wherein the camera has been skilfully used as well as the pen. A companion to "AMONG ENGLISH HEDGEROWS," a very popular book among the last season's issues.
Cloth, 12mo, $2.25

MISS KATHARINE LEE BATES'

SPANISH HIGHWAYS AND BYWAYS is a book on much the same lines, and one in which the charm of rural Spain is disclosed as perfectly as that of rustic France and Eng. land may be found or recalled in Mr. Johnson's books.
Cloth, 12mo, $2.25

NEW ILLUSTRATED EDITIONS:

ELIZABETH AND HER GERMAN GARDEN and THE SOLITARY SUMMER are two of the most popular books of the year, uncommonly so, yet are not stories, still less essays—simply indescribably fresh and delightful glimpses into German outdoor and home life.
Cloth, 8vo, $2.50 each

JAMES FORDS RHODES'

HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES FROM THE COMPROMISE OF 1850 "is the best 'all-round' history" of the war "that has yet appeared" (Public Ledger, Phila.).
Four vols., $10.00

Beg to Announce the Publication of An American Engineer in China

By WILLIAM BARCLAY PARSONS

An intimate story of personal observations and experiences in China along the proposed American railway route.

A few months ago Mr. Parsons led a party of engineers into the interior of China in order to locate a route for an American railway in that country. He accomplished more than discovery; he secured an exact knowledge of the country, its people, resources and future possibilities, and he passed through some of the most remarkable experiences that ever fell to the lot of a traveller. The story he has written is a graphic account of his investigations in the country.

Illustrated. Cloth, 12mo, $1.50.

THE

American Catalogue

Author-and-Title Alphabet; Part II: K-Z.

THE new volume of the American Catalogue covers books recorded from July 1, 1895, to January 1, 1900, including books with the imprint 1900 issued within 1899, and also books of 1899 recorded after January 1, 1900. The work will be completed with Subject Alphabet, Part III, in the first part of 1901. The first alphabet contains 550 pages, as compared with 498 pages in the 1890-1895 volume, and the subject alphabet will contain approximately 275 pages as compared with 251 pages. Appendixes for Government Publications, State Publications, and Publications of Societies, now otherwise provided for, will not be given in this volume.

The edition, as before, is limited, so that orders should be placed promptly in advance. The price to advance subscribers will be, as heretofore, $10 in sheets or $12.50 in half morocco, to be raised after publication to $12.50 in sheets and $15 in half morocco. Subscribers should designate whether they wish the work forwarded in parts or delivered complete. The fact that most of the previous volumes are out of print and selling at extra price suggests the value of investment in this completing volume of the present series.

THE AMERICAN CATALOGUE

298 Broadway, New York

An Englishwoman's Love-Letters.

THE great interest which this book has aroused in England since its recent publication there, is due not only to its exquisite literary quality, but, in part, to the secrecy and mystery which surround its publication—the authorship is entirely unknown save to the English publisher and to those directly concerned. It is stated positively, however, that the letters are perfectly genuine—the passionate expression of a woman's love for her betrothed husband—and that they are not the authentic record of a great devotion, beginning in all happiness and ending in separation and in the writer's death, is hard to believe, so true do they ring—still opinion is greatly divided.

The N. Y. Evening Post says: "Their finished art at least suggests that we are dealing with a new "Lettres à un Inconnu." . . . However that be, the letters are so exquisite that one hesitates to detach any individual beauty from its setting."

The Morning Post, London, says: "The denouement, indeed, is so inconceivable that one is tempted to doubt whether, after all, these letters are genuine. . . . If they should be an invention as suggested above, we hazard the guess that they are the work of a man, not of a woman. If they are the work of a woman, they are real."

The Daily Telegraph, London, says: "To appraise coldly the outpourings of a soul translated to the highest heaven by an overwhelming love is well nigh an impossible task."

Either the one way or the other—the letters of a woman dead of a broken heart, or of an author seeking publicity through concealment—the book should be read. It is so exquisitely delicate in its intense sentiment, language, and mode of expression, that one is thankful, if saddened, after the reading.

ALL WANT STRINGTOWN.

Public Library, With 141 Copies, Can't Supply the Demand.

The public library is finding great difficulty in supplying the demand for Prof. Lloyd's new story, "Stringtown, on the Pike." The demand for it is greater than any other book recently published. Notwithstanding that forty-four copies of the book were purchased for the library, and one for each of the branch libraries, making a total of 141 copies, applications for "Stringtown" are now on file, both at the public library and at all the branches, which it will take some weeks to supply.
